DEAR HIRING MANAGER,

An effective leader is one who is able to set their goals into action. For Parallon, this means taking every opportunity to better ourselves so that we can better serve our patients. Based on my past experiences, I believe that I have the unique perspective to thrive in the Parallon HCA Healthcare Leadership Development Program.

A leadership development role such as this that requires detailed attention to the patient experience fits naturally with my work history. I've served in both entry-level and supervisory positions to ensure that we are delivering an exceptional product to our customers.

Throughout my previous work history as a sales representative for an electronics distributor, I've had the pleasure of working with a breadth of clients in the automotive and medical verticals, each with their own set of needs. I was exposed to circumstances that required me to adapt my approach, to find quickly available replacement components or consistent supply chain solutions as appropriate to suit my clients' needs. This allowed me to recognize my clients' differing priorities and develop a strategy that suited them best.

During my time as a CA supervisor, I was in a position to work with my team to achieve our company's goal of customer satisfaction. I built rapport with my team, practiced ongoing communication during our transition to remote work, and made sure to keep my direct reports engaged and involved with our daily tasks. A key responsibility of mine that I carried out proudly was to liaise between my direct reports and other departments within the company. This helped them to navigate their employment comfortably, which is vital to ensuring retention.

Through my experiences, I've demonstrated that I am reliable, customer-focused, and able to serve effectively as a valuable contributor to my team. I've been able to execute my duties with minimal oversight or corrective action, receive and implement feedback, and manage and resolve conflicts from both internal and external sources. I've also readily assisted with the onboarding and integration of new members, and I've ensured a comfortable transition for them to carry out their roles successfully.

I welcome the opportunity to further discuss my qualifications for this position. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,
